A BOLD PERSPECTIVE FOR THE NEXT ECONOMY

At Illinois Tech's Stuart School of Business, we recognize the need to prepare students for a world focused on science, technology, and innovation. We give you more than just a degree. We prepare you to conquer the challenges of the next global economy.

As the only business school in Chicago within a technology-focused university, the Stuart School is uniquely positioned to educate you to excel in organizations where technology and analytics are key components of competitiveness. You will share the classroom with students from all backgrounds, representing more than 37 different countries.

At Stuart you will learn to shape your own informed, global worldview through connections with fellow students whose undergraduate degrees are in engineering, computer science, law, business, social science, and the humanities—from universities around the world.

LEARNING IN THE CITY THAT WORKS

Illinois Tech's Stuart School puts you in the center of Chicago, internationally renowned as a place to do business. It gives you the opportunity to interact with some of the best executive, managerial, public service, and entrepreneurial talent in the world, as many of our faculty have close ties to prominent Chicago-based organizations and have been—or still are—employed in those fields. In addition, hands-on research and internship opportunities give you an insider's look at the professional world even before you graduate.

A GO-ANYWHERE GRADUATE DEGREE

Stuart programs allow you to explore business and the public sector from a multifaceted perspective. You will graduate with an advanced skill set, rooted in science, technology, analytics, and quantitative methods—essential for success in the next economy. You will stand out, and your degree will be noticed.
